

Fun for

Finn

~ and ~

Frodo

To my littlest cousin, Olive and her two playful cats.

Two Kittens lay sleeping

'Til the sun starts a-peeping

They wake with a yawn

With this first light of dawn.

They stretch with a meow

Time for a pow-wow

To discuss what to do

Before the day is through

Finn and Frodo know that squirrel will be back
So they go to the window to plan an attack.

Unlucky for them
the glass gets in the way
So Frodo says to Finn,
"Let's go play!"

They wrestle, roll and tumble

'Til their tummies start to rumble.

Then Frodo and Finn

Realize it's almost time for din'.

They wait and wait
and wait and wait
For the food machine
to start to shake.

When it does
Out comes the food.
Finn and Frodo
Are in a great mood.

After they eat
They go to bed
And look forward
To the day ahead

Zoe Popovic lives in Westbrook, Maine.

Her other works include the Angry Octopus comics. She has been a contributor to both the Portland Press Herald and the Monadnock Shopper News. More of her poems may be found in Leaping Like Summer, a book of Maine poets.